DIGAS - Developing Innovation AGents for SMEs

The project aims at developing tools to facilitate the employment opportunities of young people holding university degrees considered as "weak" (eg. literature, philosophy, theology, etc.) for the new Labour Market needs.

The objective is achieved by providing graduates with tailored training, designed according to the LM needs, in order to provide them with the skills needed by the enterprises and in particular by SMEs.

Value: 312.770,00 €

Period: 2014 – 2016

SOLA - Simple Open Learning Advancement

The project aims to meet the emerging requirements of the tourism industry in the European Community with ICT-based didactical methods, knowledge based contents and courses.

In particular, a group of trainers in each of participating partner institution will be empowered to develop, use and share didactic materials via OER (Open Education Resources).

Additionally, trainers will get qualified to produce e-learning contents without a skilled team of authors, to adapt existing open contents in order to meet specific regional requirements and to work with it.

Value: 298.063,00 €

Period: 2014 – 2016

SHAPE - Shared expertise in provision of adult education in 5 European countries

SHAPE-project will scrutinize adult education provision and training from six thematic perspectives chosen as innovative and interesting by all partners. The project partners will survey the best practices developed and used in partner organizations within these six themes, and take a step further by identifying possible next practices that partners can take home and put into practice.

Value: 188.722,33 €

Period: 2014 – 2016

YOUTH COACH

The project addresses VET dropout prevention from a multidimensional point of view, involving companies, VET organizations and VET teachers and trainers by focusing on capacity building in both VET teachers and trainers and young VET learners.

Common "toolbox" will be developed based on the products which have been developed, implemented and evaluated by partners in Germany, Slovenia, Czech Republic and Austria and will be transferred to each other and to partners in Croatia, Spain, Greece and Italy.

ACROSS - Appraising transversal skills in green jobs for employability of youth and workers in restructuring processes"

The project intends to strengthen the capacity of VET and labor market organizations to reduce the gaps between available skills and labor demand and to deliver innovative tools to bridge such gaps focusing on two main tenets: sustainable development in the so-called green economies and the appraising of transversal skills as portable skills in times of high unemployment and restructuring.

The project aims to approach “green” as a set of sustainable productive activities across sectors rather than a sector per se, & “green jobs” as a modality – based on a balanced mix of soft and hard skills – to deal with structural changes and sustainable restructuring of sectors as a consequence of globalization and needs for more environmentally –friendly approaches to productivity.
